India-Pakistan Leaders Hold Secret Session

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Faced with an impasse over Kashmir, the leaders of India and Pakistan held a secret meeting today in an effort to find a common ground for negotiating peace between their two nations.

As the second round of the Soviet-sponsored summit talks began this morning, India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri and Pakistan's President Mohammed Ayub Khan met alone, without aides or translators, at a suburban dacha (country house) in this Central Asian city.

This was the first time the two leaders have met alone privately since the conference opened Tuesday. There was no indication the two were successful in agreeing on an agenda for talks, expected to continue through the week. Their foreign and defense ministers later were working on a final draft, however.

Today's meeting followed a two-hour surprise meeting Tuesday night between Shastri and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, who is heading the Kremlin's first venture as a "peacemaker" between two non-Communist nations.

Reaction Of Hanoi Dims Peace Hopes

Bombing Pause Of U.S. Called Deceptive Trick

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hopes for early progress toward peace in Viet Nam appeared today to have been dealt a damaging — though not necessarily fatal — blow by Hanoi's first direct reaction to the U.S. bombing pause.

The North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry, in a tough statement broadcast by Hanoi Radio Tuesday, labeled the suspension of U.S. air attacks "a trick" to further what it called "a deceptive peace campaign."

Position Changed? It was considered highly unlikely in Washington that the United States would regard this as the final word on the subject from the Communists. No similar direct rejection has been received through third party diplomatic channels, and the United States was continuing its efforts to generate more world pressure on Hanoi and Peking.

Neither the White House nor the State Department would comment on the Hanoi statement, which also reaffirmed demands that the war be settled entirely on Communist terms. Administration experts presumably were studying it closely for any evidence the bitter denunciation of the United States might conceivably mask some indication of possible changes in the Red position.

President Johnson was continuing the wide-ranging efforts he hopes will generate sufficient world pressure on Peking and Hanoi to force the Reds to talk peace without "preconditions" or, at least, to lower the level of military operations.

In their talks with friendly governments who have contacts with Hanoi, American envoys were understood to be outlining some of the military steps North Viet Nam might take to indicate a reciprocal desire to deescalate the war.

Officials have made it clear Hanoi will be given ample time to ponder the possible consequences of any final refusal to cooperate in lessening or ending the conflict.

RUSSELL CRITICAL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee, said today the U.S. "pause" in bombing Communist North Viet Nam has already run too long.

"I think a week was long enough," the Georgia Democrat said in an interview. "I wouldn't want to be the next Naval pilot to fly over one of those SAM sites."

The Senator's reference was to the Russian surface-to-air antiaircraft missile sites ringing the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi and its port city of Haiphong. Prior to the bombing pause—now in its 13th day—the sites had been under attack by U.S. Navy carrier planes.

Russell prefaced his comments on the bombing pause with a statement that he has little hope for the Johnson administration's current worldwide "peace offensive."

He said he believed the upcoming second session of the 93rd Congress would center largely on Viet Nam, but would also include other problem areas such as the Dominican Republic. Russell, who visited the strife-torn Caribbean island nation during the congressional recess, called it "a darn sore spot . . . loaded with dynamite."

His committee and the Defense appropriations subcommittee which he also heads is planning hearings on Viet Nam soon after Congress reconvenes next Monday. He said he would also schedule a briefing session for the special five-man subcommittee which oversees the Central Intelligence Agency.

Hours Staggered In NY Traffic Jam

NEW YORK (UPI) — Traffic congestion of fantastic proportions forced the city today to institute a voluntary plan for staggered working hours for the duration of the $100 million a day subway-bus strike, already in its fifth day with no end in sight.

The only bright spot in the gloomy situation was Mayor John V. Lindsay's report that negotiations between the city's Transit Authority (TA) and the second string leadership of Michael J. Quill's Transport Workers Union (TWU) was "starting to work constructively."

"The negotiators worked most of the night and moved," said Lindsay on his 70-block morning walk to City Hall during which he received many compliments, such as "good job" and "keep it up" from pedestrians.

Quill's Condition Serious Quill and eight other top union brass were prisoners of the city for contempt of a court order for resumption of public transit service. Quill suffered a possible heart attack shortly after he was jailed Tuesday and remained in serious condition in Bellevue Hospital.

Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes asked employers with businesses between the battery and 59th street in Manhattan to release workers this afternoon in four shifts staggered according to four geographical areas.

Barnes said he hoped this would ease the evening out-bound jam of cars which poured into the city's business heart this morning at about the same rate as Tuesday—50 percent higher than usual. The commissioner reported happily that more drivers were carrying passengers than previously, indicating progress in car pooling.

Meetings All Day

Lindsay left his office shortly after 8 a.m. EST to go to the Hotel Americana, scene of the strike negotiations, at the request of Dr. Nathan Feinsinger, chairman of the three-man mediation panel. Meetings were scheduled throughout the day.

The power plays continued. The Transit Authority (TA) was to go into court again, this time seeking heavy daily fines against the striking Transport Workers Union (TWU) for ignoring an anti-strike injunction. The TA hoped to squeeze the union into settling.

The court hearing was scheduled for 2 p.m. EST. But the union vowed it would lower its demands by not "one cent" now that Quill, its president, was in a city hospital—the prisoner of his adopted city.

Arrested on live television for defying the injunction, Quill went to jail defiantly "to rot" Tuesday and came out two hours later, white-faced, unconscious, on a stretcher, the victim of a possible heart attack. He remained in Bellevue Hospital today, alternating between consciousness and unconsciousness, fed intravenously.

Ill Regards

Sixty of his fellow New Yorkers telephoned the hospital to wish him ill. "Give him the wrong medicine," one advised. "Why isn't he in the prisoners' ward?" another demanded.

The strain of the strike showed on the faces of the citizenry. They were tired of improvising, tired of walking, tired of waiting. The glamor was gone from the thing.

Old women, trudging the grand avenues wearily, stopped now and then for a breather, a hand to chest or head. The Commerce and Industry Association of New York estimated business losses due to the strike, now in its fifth day, at more than $100 million a day. Much of this was unrecoverable. Seventh Avenue, which clothes America's women, worried about getting Easter fashions to the nation's stores on time.

From now on, announced Ralph Gross, executive vice president of the association, only a few businesses will continue to pay employees who stayed home. Many firms had refused to pay absentees at all. The cut-off of pay threatened to increase the numbers struggling to make it to work today.

Johnson To Ask 13 Billion More To Finance War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson will go to Congress after it resumes session next week for a whopping $13 billion in extra funds to finance the war in Viet Nam during the current fiscal year.

This amount is far larger than has been mentioned in the past for Johnson's planned supplemental defense appropriation request for the fiscal year ending June 30.

It will raise total military appropriations for this fiscal year to well above $82 billion—the highest figure since World War II.

It also gives a foretaste of what can be expected in defense spending requests in the budget Johnson will submit to Congress for the fiscal year which starts July 1.

When the President submits his supplemental request, Americans will get the clearest picture so far of the cost of the military expansion programs started last summer when U.S. ground troops began pouring into South Viet Nam.

That action, along with the air campaign already under way, triggered an increase in the size of the U. S. armed forces, increased maintenance costs, created a need for greater military production and stepped up construction needs.

Since appropriations include large sums for long-term production items such as ships and aircraft, they are not all spent during a 12-month period. The defense spending estimate for the current fiscal year now stands at $53 billion. Johnson's new budget is expected to call for something less than $60 billion.

Bogalusa Klan Terror Bared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Witnesses from Bogalusa, La., went before a congressional committee today to tell how the Ku Klux Klan's "secrecy and terror can subvert normal community relations."

Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, indicated the line testimony before the panel would take. Bogalusa was the scene of widespread civil rights disturbances last year.

In accordance with committee rules, Weltner declined to name witnesses before they appeared. It was learned from other sources, however, that one of them would be Ral Blumberg, former owner of a radio station in the southern Louisiana city.

Blumberg said he was forced to give up the station and leave Bogalusa because of his battles with the Klan. He claimed Klan pressure forced most of his advertisers to cancel their contracts.

Bogalusa's problems became a national issue when the Justice Department filed suit against the Klan and certain police officials, contending the KKK had virtually taken over the city.

Beating With Fry Pan Kills Grandmother, 65

DETROIT (UPI) — A 17-year-old suburban Detroit youth was being held by police today after he admitted beating his 65-year-old grandmother to death with a frying pan.

Police said Edwin Swiderski Jr., St. Clair Shores, along with three companions, were being held. No formal charges have been filed.

Police said the youth killed his grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Swiderski, a Detroit widow who lived alone, and took $7,000 in cash from her home.

The four youths were picked up by police after a used car salesman reported the boys had bought two sports cars from him and paid $6,900 in cash.

Steel Mills May Ease Price Boosts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said today the $2.75 a ton price increase announced by U. S. Steel Corp. was acceptable under wage-price guidelines. It called on Bethlehem and Inland steel to pull their boosts back to a similar level.

The administration's position was stated at the White House by Chairman Gardner Ackley of the Council of Economic Advisers after he discussed the U. S. Steel announcement with President Johnson.

Ackley said: "The United States Steel Corporation's announcement of its price adjustments (some up, some down) indicates an effort to meet the nation's problem of price stability."

Net Gain Small Although the increase in structural steel will likely bring the company somewhat more revenue than the decrease in sheets will cost them, it appears that the net gain in company revenue is less than one-tenth of 1 per cent and therefore inconsequential.

"I would hope and expect that Bethlehem and Inland, who have already acted, would adjust accordingly to meet competition and thus well serve the national interest."

In announcing the "selective" price increase in Pittsburgh, U. S. Steel expressed hope of administration acceptance. It said it was bowing to government insistence that the $5 a ton hike imposed by Bethlehem and Inland would damage the domestic economy.

U. S. Steel's action came as government agencies prepared to carry out the administration order to not to honor federal-state contracts with steel companies which had raised their prices. The order had been directed at the $5 a ton increase set by Bethlehem and Inland steel companies.

In telegrams to state highway departments throughout the country earlier this week, Federal Highway Administrator Rex M. Whitton warned that contracts for federal-state projects cannot be honored with steel companies which have raised their prices.

The South Dakota Highway Department was among the first of the state agencies to implement Whitton's directive. It sent out affidavits to bidders asking them to prove their prices for structural and reinforced steel are no greater than they were before Jan. 1.

The administration was playing a waiting game. Any contact with the steel industry was taking place away from the public view.

White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers admitted Tuesday "there have been some contacts today" between administration officials and the industry. But he said he had heard of no suggestion for a White House meeting with steel company executives.

Meantime, one of the nation's smaller steel producers, Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp., abruptly postponed a planned price increase in the face of an apparent showdown with the administration.

Colorado was one of three steel makers which drew the wrath of the administration by announcing price boosts for structural steel. It had planned a $3 a ton hike—$2 less than the figure set by Bethlehem and Inland Steel, both industry giants. Neither of the big companies had any comment on the Colorado rollback.

Double Switch

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UPI) — Two men scheduled to be sent to prison walked out of the Nueces County Jail and two persons who had served out fines and were to be freed were kept there, sheriff's deputies admitted today.

A search has been underway for the fugitives since they were mistakenly freed last Friday. Sheriff's deputies said the other two men, who were mistakenly detained were released after the error was discovered.

HOUSTON (UPI) — A Houston business executive has taken out what the American General Life Insurance Co. believes is the biggest life insurance policy ever written on an individual — $1 million.

American General declined to say who it was written for but admitted the annual premium is more than $147,000.

'Flying Crane' Crashes; Five Americans Killed

SAIGON (UPI) — A mammoth U.S. Army "Flying Crane" helicopter, one of only six in existence, crashed and burned today while carrying tons of ammunition into the Vietnamese Central Highlands. All five Americans aboard were killed.

The cause of the crash was not immediately determined but indications were the $8.25 million twin-turbine aircraft was shot down by Viet Cong groundfire.

The Crane, officially designated the CH54, was developed by the Sikorsky Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp. It was one of four brought to Viet Nam by the U.S. Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division. The other two are in the United States.

"We have reports from the ground that the plane was on fire before it crashed, giving some indication of enemy fire," a spokesman said.

The 20,760-pound "flying crane" is used to pluck downed helicopters from the jungles and also can be used as a 65-seat troop transport. It can carry a full field hospital or a large missile.

It crashed just west of the Mang Yang pass on Route 19 between the 1st Cavalry headquarters at An Khe and the major supply city of Pleiku.

Exploding ammunition from the wreckage kept rescuers away, UPI correspondent Martin Stuart-Fox reported.

"You could see the flash of exploding ammunition through the trees and a pall of gray smoke drifting up from the jungle," he said after flying over the crash scene in a helicopter.

Defenders of a U.S. Special Forces outpost not far from the border of Communist North Viet Nam today turned back a Communist mortar barrage after U.S. Marine jets strafed and bombed Viet Cong positions which had been illuminated by flares. The attempts to overrun the Khe Sanh garrison 405 miles northeast of Saigon were repulsed shortly before U.S. military authorities in Saigon announced that Viet Cong attacks during the first week after the Christmas truce rose to their highest level of the war.

The Viet Cong initiated 1,133 incidents in the week ended Jan. 1. The previous high was 1,038 attacks during the week ended Nov. 27.

Despite the increase in Communist attacks and repeated denunciations by the Communists of U.S. peace moves, the undeclared truce in the air war over North Viet Nam continued into its 13th day. U.S. planes last crossed the 17th parallel dividing North and South Viet Nam on Christmas Eve.

Quiet Old Man Held As Killer

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — Authorities held a "nice, quiet, old man" on a murder charge today in the shooting of a Negro civil rights worker whose 1,500 fellow students staged an angry march on City Hall.

Officers released no word from Marvin Segrest, a white, 69-year-old service station attendant, on the slaying which brought state and FBI agents rushing to this predominantly Negro town on the fringe of Alabama's Black (soil) Belt.

Investigators said Samuel L. (Sammy) Young Jr., 21, a political science major at Tuskegee Institute, apparently was shot during an argument over use of a rest room at Tuskegee's only all-night service station.

Young's body, sprawled at the entrance to an alley about 75 feet from the station, was found by a taxi driver around midnight Tuesday. The youth was clutching a golf club, which Dist. Atty. Tom Young speculated may have been used as a weapon. Young was killed by a .38 bullet in the temple.

THORIN AVIATION of Escanaba will have this new Cessna Super Skymaster here for executive and air ambulance service soon. The plane will be flown here from Wichita, Kan., by Thorin next week.

Executive Air Travel Service Added By Thorin

The last word in multi-engine executive air travel and air ambulance service will come to Escanaba with the addition by Jon Thorin Aviation of a Cessna Super Skymaster. Thorin, who is also manager of the Escanaba Municipal Airport, will fly the new six-place plane from Wichita, Kan., to Escanaba the week of Jan. 10. The executive multi-engine and air ambulance service plane is unique to this area, and it definitely fills a need in completing the variety of services offered by Thorin Aviation to the people of the area over the years. Thorin now has three planes based here and has served the community with air ambulance since 1958. Besides an instructional program, Thorin has served on an emergency basis and with air charter most cities in the Upper Peninsula. He also has a contract with the U. S. Forest Service to provide forest fire detection and administrative travel service. The new plane's twin engines are center-located—one on the nose and the other (a pusher) at the rear. The center-line thrust adds to maneuverability and safety.

Movies Of Life Along E.&L.S. Shown To Club

Moving pictures of life along the Escanaba & Lake Superior Railroad Co.'s tracks in Delta and Marquette counties were presented to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its meeting Tuesday noon at the House of Ludington.

The movies were photographed by James Hurkinan of Mashek, the E&LS section foreman, and were shown with commentary by Guy Knutson, the E&LS vice president and general manager.

Pictures of loggers at work, of deer and other animals along the railroad right-of-way, and of events and incidents in the lives of E&LS employees and their families were shown.

Don Yost, Rotary president, conducted the meeting and the program was introduced by Ralph Sogard.

Yost announced that Clifford A. Lewis, Manistique, district governor of Rotary, will make his official visit to the Escanaba club on Tuesday, Jan. 11. He will meet with club committee chairmen at 10 a. m. and address the club at the noon luncheon.

On Jan. 18 the Rotary Club will entertain its friends from Delta County farms.

Group Planned For Bird Study

Bird study enthusiasts of the Escanaba area completed a Christmas bird count for the Audubon Society and made plans for the organization of a birding group.

Ray Reilly, biologist of the faculty of Bay de Noc Community College, reported that most of Sunday was spent walking fields and forests on the bird count.

"Although the total species count was small (23) it did represent a reasonably good showing for birds in this northern latitude," Reilly said.

"The only species not commonly observed in the area was a female pigeon hawk — a robin-sized falcon. Its European counterpart, the merlin, was used widely during the Middle Ages when the sport of falconry was extremely popular," he continued.

The results of the count will be forwarded to the headquarters of the Michigan Audubon Society.

If there is sufficient interest, a local birding group may be established. All interested persons are invited to be present at a brief organization meeting to be held at 7 p. m., Jan. 18, in Room 10, Bay de Noc Community College.

Persons who are interested but will be unable to attend the meeting are asked to contact Reilly at the Community College or by calling ST 6-4553.

Conference Of Witnesses To Open On Friday

Jehovah's Witnesses from this area are completing plans to join with upwards of 500 fellow Christian Witnesses this weekend at Marquette.

Fifty local delegates will leave early Friday by car for a three-day ministers' conference which begins at 6:45 p. m. that evening in the Gravelaet Junior High School, according to Patrick Madden, spokesman for the Escanaba congregation.

Emphasizing the purpose of the bi-annual meeting, Madden said that the conference is meant to "spiritually fortify each individual and aid him to increase his praise to Jehovah." Madden explained, "The proportionately low rate of juvenile delinquency among Witnesses children can be attributed to the fact that they take an active part with their parents in conferences such as this one and in congregational worship."

Several of the Escanaba delegates are preparing to assist in staffing the 22 volunteer departments that are needed to operate a conference of this size. Most of these departments will be set up Friday, according to Madden. Planning for the lodging and feeding of the delegates began weeks ago.

Madden added, "The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York, sponsors of the gathering, are providing the principal speakers, Christian H. Weining and Otto Kugler, both of Brooklyn, New York. Weining will deliver the main address, "What Does the Resurrection of the Dead Mean for You and Yours?" at 3 p. m. Sunday, January 9.

Madden said that all meetings at the local Kingdom Hall, 1201 Sheridan Road, will be cancelled for this weekend only.

THIS S-58 Helicopter, specially equipped for tricky flying assignments, paused for a day at the Escanaba Municipal airport last week when fog and heavy cloud cover made it impossible for pilot Mel Davis of Philadelphia to find his way back to construction site near Covington. The plane is owned by Keystonehelicopter, Inc., of Philadelphia. (Daily Press Photo)

Helicopter Pilot Makes Use Of Railroad Tracks

By DAVE ANDREWS

The modern helicopter pilot not only has to know how to get his plane off the ground, but also how to maneuver it in close quarters.

And Mel Davis, veteran pilot from Philadelphia, will tell you sometimes that isn't an easy assignment.

Davis and the bladed bulk of his Sikorsky (S-58) helicopter were grounded for a day in Escanaba last week, unable to fly because of heavy fog and cloud cover. They stopped here after a hop to Green Bay for minor repairs from a job near Covington.

"When you don't know the country it's impossible to get up in fog," he said. "Which way is Gladstone, due north?"

Davis needed to find Gladstone to locate a railroad track which would lead him through the fog back to Covington, the site of pipeline construction work requiring a helicopter's special skills. Despite spending 23 of his 43 years as a pilot, he wasn't willing to fly blindly.

The specially equipped helicopter is valued at a cool $300,000.

It is owned by Keystone Helicopter, Inc., of Philadelphia, a firm which thrives on special assignments. Davis has worked on skyscrapers in the heart of metropolitan areas, bridges over rivers and in the heart of no man's country.

Pipeline work near Covington involves lifting 4,000 weights into place as base material for pipe in a heavy swamp. Economically, it's impossible to bring a crane in to do the job, he explained.

The helicopter, which is rigged with cables and an automatic hook, is able to pick up the slabs and lower them through the treetops into position.

"We're supposed to be able to take up to 2,000-pound weights at once," Davis said, "but I don't know. Maybe stripped down, with everything off the airplane, we could make it."

Fortunately, Davis didn't have to worry about 2,000-pound weights.

He had a different problem this time. If only he could find that railroad track.

Federal Budget Being Trimmed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House said Tuesday that President Johnson had cut the proposed federal budget for fiscal 1967 to "slightly under" $115 billion—and was still cutting.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said he thought the new budget would be ready for submission to congress within 15 days after the House and Senate convene on Jan. 10. This is within the statutory time limit for submission of the budget. The White House previously had thought it might have to ask for an extension.

Moyers said estimates of federal spending for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, of between $105 and $107 billion still held. He also said the revenue estimate of $96.5 billion this year still looked good and was on the conservative side.

The press secretary said the President would deliver his State of the Union message to Congress next week, although no definite day had been selected. Moyers doubted whether Johnson would ask for a joint night session to receive the message as he did last year.

Advice From ADA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) believes the Johnson administration should raise taxes if it cannot finance the Great Society and the war in Viet Nam.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., ADA national chairman, told a news conference Tuesday the increasing cost of the war should not be permitted to "strangle the Great Society in its infancy."

Aliens Report New Addresses

The District Director Walter A. Sahli of the Immigration and Naturalization Service estimated today that 130,000 aliens will report their addresses in the State of Michigan during January under the Federal Alien Address Report Program.

The Immigration official said that 131,000 aliens reported their addresses during January 1965.

Mr. Sahli said that all non-citizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, are required to file the address report.

He added that any alien who willfully violates the address report requirement may be subject to serious penalties.

In addition, aliens who are not in the United States during January must report their addresses to the Service within 10 days after their return.

Mr. Sahli said that address report cards are available at the Immigration and Naturalization Service office at 3770 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, and local United States post offices.

Maple Flooring Association To Meet Feb. 3-4

The Maple Flooring Manufacturers Association will hold its 69th annual meeting, Feb. 3-4, at the Pioneer Hotel-Marina in Oshkosh.

C. W. Abendroth, White Lake, President of MFMA, said that in addition to establishing all necessary operating budgets for the year, a great deal of time will be devoted to association services, research and space advertising.

Other officers of the Association are H. K. Hamar, Dollar Bay, vice president; Roy R. Ahonen, Ironwood, treasurer; J. B. Albee, Oshkosh, secretary-manager.

Mead Foremen Retire Jan. 1

George Wind and Arthur Swanson, two long service supervisors, retired from the Escanaba Division of Mead Corp. Jan. 1. Between them they accumulated a total of 75 years of pulp mill experience. In announcing their retirement, Division Manager George S. Douglas said, "We would like to keep employees with this vast amount of experience in the organization."

George Wind joined Mead in 1928 and initially was a block piler in the pulp mill. He worked on all pulp mill jobs prior to becoming a pulp mill tour foreman on Aug. 23, 1948, the job he held until his retirement.

Arthur Swanson was employed by Mead in 1927 and started as a grinder in the pulp mill. He also worked all pulp mill jobs prior to being promoted to wet-room foreman in April of 1929. In December of 1956, he was promoted to pulp mill tour foreman, the job he held until his retirement. Swanson elected to take early retirement, available under the Mead retirement plan.

Douglas also announced promotion of George Young and Rune Ostlund to pulp mill tour foremen, effective Jan. 1. Young started with Mead in 1944 and he was promoted to bleach plant operator in 1947. George Young is a former mayor of Gladstone and he is presently a member of that city commission. Ostlund joined Mead in 1946 and he was also promoted to bleach plant operator in 1947. Currently, Ostlund is serving as an advisor to the local Junior Achievement Program.

"Both of these employees have been active participants in the Mead Pre-Supervisory Selection and Development Program," said Douglas, "and this training should be a help to them in their new position."

Big Lyons Fire Halted; 13 Dead

LYONS, France (UPI)—A $2 million blaze that claimed 13 lives at one of Europe's newest oil refineries was brought under control today by firemen using special equipment rushed from as far away as Paris, 300 miles to the northwest.

An investigation was launched immediately to find out the cause of the spectacular series of explosions and fire at the Feyzin Refinery near here.

Eight butane gas and kerosene tanks at the refinery's storage farm exploded like a string of firecrackers Tuesday. The refinery itself was not damaged, but firemen discovered a dozen bodies Tuesday and another one early this morning.

Officials said another 87 persons were injured, 65 of them seriously enough to require hospitalization.

The spectacular blaze, which at its height sent a thick blanket of smoke hundreds of feet into the air, smoldered through the night.

Luci's Fiance Gets Transfer

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—Patrick J. Nugent, engaged to marry President Johnson's daughter Luci Baines, will be transferred to Washington, D.C., to complete his active military duty in the Air National Guard.

Nugent, 22, who announced his engagement to 18-year-old Luci on Christmas Eve at the LBJ Ranch, completes six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., on Friday. Then he will be placed on active duty for four months, stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., just outside Washington.

The program will feature Handbells with congregational singing, Handbell hymns, anthems, chimes and solos.

The Handbell Choir of the Deggett Moravian Church was organized in 1960 when a set of bells was given to the church as a memorial gift. Since then several bell choirs have been organized. At present there is a total enrollment of 32 members in four choirs.

The choirs have played regularly at church services, rung in many concerts, played at many churches, civic meetings and for special occasions. Members of the choir have attended Handbell Conventions in Detroit at Baldwin Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, and the National Convention on Bell Ringing in Washington, D.C.

The 11-member Girl's Choir is directed by Miss Jean Nelson and Mrs. Morris Van Horn is the accompanist. Hostesses for the social hour following their concert are Meadames Leonard Erickson, Esther Erickson and Francis Vian. An offering will be received.

Death Of Trout Stream; Reilly Reports Study

Raymond E. Reilly, assistant professor of biology at Bay de Noc Community College, recently delivered a technical paper before fisheries biologists at the Mid-West Wildlife Conference held in Lansing, a conference attended by biologists from colleges, universities and federal and state conservation departments from four mid-western states and two Canadian provinces.

The meeting treats new technical and educational developments in the area of conservation and ecology, a biological discipline which deals with the relationship of the animals and plants to their environment. Reilly's paper dealt with an ecological survey of a trout stream in Berrien County. The paper brought together more than 65 years of historical data regarding man's effects on the ecology of the stream. He pointed out that man's manipulation of his environment without thought or care of the consequences can lead not only to poor land practices and monetary disappointments, but also loss in a valuable portion of our recreational resource—a formerly productive trout stream.

Use and Misuse
Data gathered pointed out that improper drainage and dredging attempts and careless road building activities had been responsible for excessive siltation. The net effect was an almost complete smothering of the stream's bottom with heavy accumulations of silt and sand. Consequently, the 11-mile stream afforded only two small areas in which trout could effectively spawn. Concurrently, a poorer habitat for aquatic insects (the trout's primary food) developed, also depressing the stream's biological carrying capacity.

Most portions of the potentially best trout environment were adversely polluted with industrial and human wastes, Reilly reported. Another facet of the study pointed out that there had been a tremendous increase in rural home numbers on the watershed in the last 30 years. The increased consumption of water by these new families was correlated with the reduction of flowing wells and springs. These were once common near the stream. This cessation, it was suggested, had an adverse effect on water temperatures, volume and velocity of stream flow.

Need Uniformity
The native trout population appeared to be very small in numbers based on the seining, electrofishing and hook-and-line fishing results. Most of the short-lived fishing success being dependent upon plantings by the Conservation Department of brook trout.

"How much longer can man muddle and distort environment based on his whimsical notions of what is right and wrong? How often will we be able to have a second chance to rectify mistakes caused by trial and error resource mismanagement?" Reilly asked.

Once a trout stream is silted in, the habitat ruined it takes many thousands of dollars to even make an attempt at restoration, he said. "What price can be put on clean water, clean air and a biologically managed environment? Industries, eager to meet competition often are allowed by a community to pollute. The rationale being that this must be overlooked in order to lure them into the community," Reilly continued. As long as inequities exist between states regarding pollution laws, many industries will be continually

Perronville Native Dies In Chicago

Marion Wienchowski, 52, former resident of Perronville, died at 10:30 p. m., Monday after surgery at South Shore Hospital in Chicago.

He was employed as a steel worker at Whiting, Ind.

Mr. Wienchowski was born May 26, 1913, in Perronville and moved to the Chicago area in 1941. He and his family were frequent summer vacation visitors to Perronville.

Survivors include his widow, the former Agnes Glovacki of Perronville, two sons, Marion Jr., of Chicago and Melvin of Beale Air Force Base, Calif., and one grandson. Also surviving are his step-mother, Mrs. Helen Wienchowski of Perronville, six brothers, one sister, four half-brothers and five half-sisters.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m., Friday at St. Francis de Sales Church in Chicago with burial in Holy Cross Cemetery, Hammond, Ind.

lured to "lax" communities. Federal pollution laws, like those affecting interstate commerce should apply to all states. This would not then attach a competitively unfair advantage to those companies which are striving, or wish to strive for proper water and air management.

Auto Insurance Law Successful

LANSING (UPI)—A Michigan State University professor and Secretary of State James M. Hare agree that the new uninsured motorists fund appears to be a success, at least for the time being.

Hare said Tuesday that of 10,000 highway accidents in the last two weeks, only 10 per cent have involved uninsured motorists. This compared with a previous two-year average of 15 per cent, he said.

The tentative assumption, Hare said, is that new legislation has caused more motorists to take out liability insurance rather than pay a $35 fee. "This is precisely what we wanted," he added.

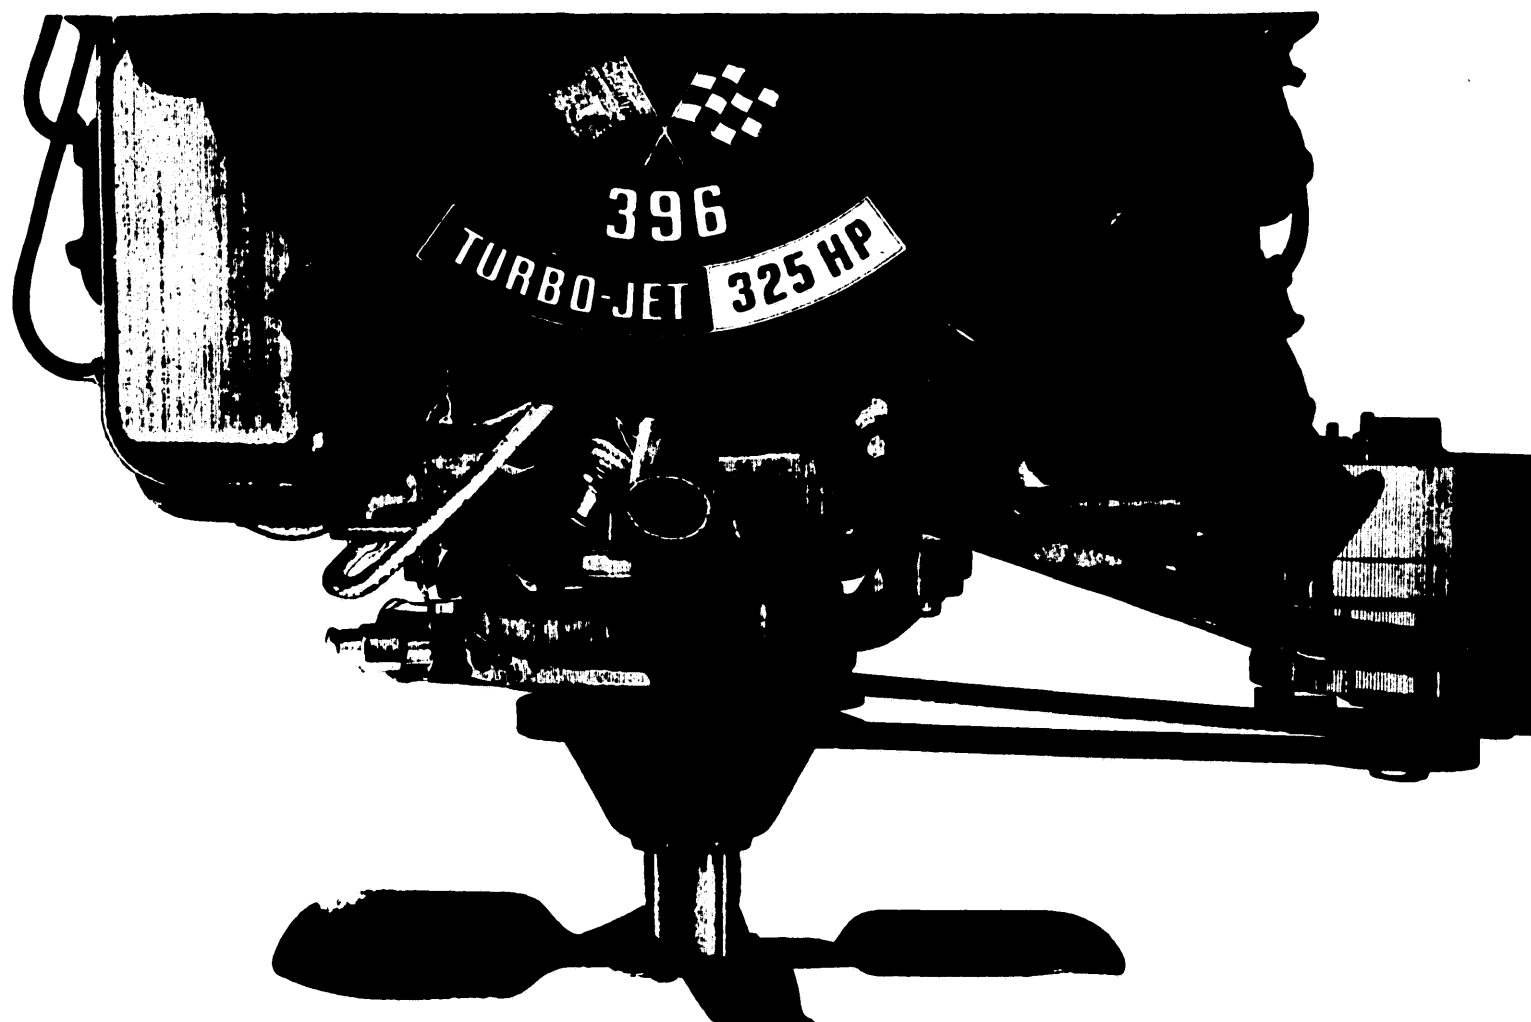

To further support the assumption, Hare said that thus far only two per cent of the 1966 auto license sales have been made to uninsured drivers. It had been estimated earlier that 15 per cent of Michigan drivers were without insurance.

Dr. Thomas L. Wenck, associate professor of accounting and financial administration at MSU, reported Tuesday on a study that showed the uninsured motorists' fund will have a first year surplus.

Gogebic's Resources

There's a lot of iron left in the Gogebic Range, but its last mine, the Peterson near Bessemer, will close in February and more than 80 years of mining there will end. The first of the Upper Peninsula's ranges to end mining was the last to be discovered and developed.

If there's still iron on the Gogebic, why isn't there still mining? Because there's a lot of iron throughout the world and industry mines that which is most profitable. The Gogebic's ore has ceased to be profitable. It doesn't respond to the present known methods of beneficiation and its ore body lies in a manner that makes surface mining (preferred in highly mechanized beneficiation projects) too difficult with present methods.

The Gogebic Range iron has supported Bessemer, Wakefield, Ironwood and the other range cities for more than three quarters of a century and now they're turning to other ventures for their livelihood. Copper mining was the first industry in the area and many of its people are supported by it again in adjoining Ontonagon County.

Oddly, there was a proposal for copper exploration a few years ago in Ontonagon County's big Porcupine Mountains State Park and the nature lovers of Michigan vetoed it. Keep it unspoiled, they said: keep it wilderness. The copper mining pits of prehistoric Indians on old Minong (Isle Royale) in Lake Superior are among its most interesting attractions, and the old pits about Silver City are an attraction of the park, but modern mining is taboo.

There is enough privately owned land in the Ontonagon area to permit copper mining on an expanding scale, but the problem of this copper resource in the park lands remains unsettled. There are oil wells on state-owned grounds to the south, and while oil can be a fugitive resource and copper can't, it is interesting to see Michigan practice its esthetics on its farthest perimeter with greatest dedication.

If the policy persists, posterity may prove it right, but there's the Gogebic Range nearby to remind us that there is a tide in the affairs of men and resources, and that it runs strong and full at times and then it ebbs. In World War II the Gogebic Range was still healthy and today it is preparing for its last mine closing.

It takes a long backward look to see all the historic drama of the Gogebic. It has had about 65 iron mines, says Harry J. Hardenberg, mining geologist for the Conservation Department.

Forty-three of these mines were in Michigan and 22 were in Wisconsin, for the range straddles the state line and there have been suggestions that its western extremity might provide new winning activity.

The peak of industry for the range as a whole was in 1917 and again in 1923 when the range had 27 mines. From 1915 to 1923 it had 25 mines or more, except in 1921.

The Michigan part of the range had its peak in 1917 with 24 and except for 1921 it had 20 or more from 1915 through 1923. These, said Hardenberg, were mines reporting shipments, as listed in the publication "Lake Superior Iron Ores," which may have included some mines no longer operating their shafts, but only moving ore from their stockpiles.

The Michigan part of the Gogebic had 7 mines in 1955-57 and after that the number went downhill. On the Wisconsin part of the range there were only two mines active since 1955 and they have both been closed.

The Gogebic ores produced many millions of dollars of wealth for the people of the range and for investors elsewhere. They created the range's communities and they live on and seek other means of livelihood. This is a public benefit born of adversity, putting many people's ingenuity to work on the creation of new means of support for the area.

If people were content to ride bicycles we wouldn't have the automobile business. Necessity still is the mother of invention and there will be new industries there. The recreation business which is being developed will find a continuing resource of history in the area's mining past. And eventually it may have mining again. Change, which put it out of the mining business, keeps changing too.

The Doctor Says:

Keloids Hard To Remove

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandt

When a scar gets carried away with its own importance you have a keloid. This is a hard, raised scar that is smooth except for its claw-like edges.

Keloids are primarily a cosmetic problem but, if they occur at the collar line or any other location where they are rubbed by your clothing, they may be a constant source of irritation. They usually follow a burn, chronic infection, operation or vaccination. They may run in families. A large number of keloids were seen in the survivors of the atomic explosions in Japan. Keloids are not malignant and they do not tend to become cancerous.

Many a surgeon has removed an unsightly keloid only to have it recur after the wound heals. When anyone who has a keloid must be operated on the surgeon takes certain precautions, not always successful, to try to prevent another keloid forming in the new scar.

Many treatments have been tried to remove or reduce keloids, but none are completely successful. Exposure to X-rays, injecting the keloid with one of the corticosteroids, heavy pressure with a freezing agent such as dry ice, injection with a mixture of lidocaine (a local anesthetic) and dexamethasone, all have produced good results in some patients.

More recently, two new compounds, triethylene-thiophosphoramide and triamcinolone acetate have been found to give good results both on old keloids and in the prevention of new ones. For those who have the patience to stay with it for 10 to 12 months, deep heat produced by ultrasonic waves has also reduced keloids nearly to the vanishing point.

Comparative studies to determine which of the methods mentioned is best have not yet been made but at least there has been some progress in getting rid of these unsightly scars.

Q—For two years I have been getting sores on my scalp and face that do not come to a head. Frequent shampoos help but do not cure this condition. What causes it and what will cure it?

A—You probably have acne necrotica. This disease is in no way related to the acne of adolescents. The cause is unknown but it is most often seen in middle-aged men. It is hard to cure but it can be helped by rubbing white ammoniated mercury ointment (10 per cent) in your scalp every second or third night. This should be washed out thoroughly in the morning. If you are overweight you should reduce and regard less of your weight you should cut out fatty foods and chocolate. If these measures do not help you, you should see a skin specialist.

LOOTERS MISS LOOT? ENNA, Sicily (AP)—The Sicilian superintendency of antiquities has authorized new excavations at Montagna Di Marzo—Mountain of March. Scientists want to see whether grave looters who illegally dug up 2,500 ancient tombs there many years ago may have overlooked other finds of valuable archaeological value.

"Maybe in Seven Years She'll Be Able to Walk"

Michigan's Deer Control Policy Called Success

LANSING — "The rumblings and grumbings from Michigan deer hunters have again reached dramatic proportions. The crescendo started almost at the beginning of the most recent hunting season and has continued with increasing fury," reports the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

"This is not a new experience in the State of Michigan, nor is it non-existent in other states that have a deer management problem. If a gigantic tape recording had been made of these grumbings down through the years, there is no doubt that it would closely parallel the ups and downs of the kill chart," the special report continues.

"Lost in this great groundswell is the fact that throughout the years, starting in the 1930's, Michigan's deer herd has fluctuated almost in the same proportion as the hunter's success reports. At the same time, the number of hunters have increased, until this past season almost 600,000 deer hunters were in the field.

"If one would rather use the observations of a few deer hunters, perhaps untrained, or even experienced in the ways of wildlife, then all the logic of good management is meaningless and of no consequence.

Range Is Key
"If one would rather use his own observations in the field, and ignore the findings of many trained observers, then there is no point in listening or reading on. If you are willing to accept the figures of the Conservation Department statisticians with the same degree of willingness that you accept the figures of every other state agency, then perhaps we can reason together.

"The Conservation Department tries to cut down the herd to this capacity by regular seasons and quotas. The weather in most of our winters finish the task of culling the herd down to the carrying capacity of the winter range.

"The winter range consists primarily of protected cedar swamps and other areas which may or may not be comparatively free of snow. These areas are all mapped and charted with a good idea of the carrying capacity for a normal winter.

"The Michigan Department of Conservation has been given the responsibility of managing the deer herd. The basic charge was not contingent upon pleasing every deer hunter, nor every chamber of commerce, nor every individual.

Kill Over Average
"They have tried to do this, however, and have been harassed and harried for the past 14 years by those who honestly believe that their job is to provide deer for all who want them. This is impossible, of course, and hunters must come to realize the fact that the winter range will always control the eventual number of deer available to the hunter.

"The Department has been rather successful in their management program, as evidenced by the number of deer taken. Since 1954, the kill figures have progressed from 69,500 in 1954, to 143,500 in 1964. This year, the kill was down to 108,000, but this was above the 'average' for this period. It still was the 4th highest kill since antlerless seasons started.

"Some rather ambiguous statements have been made that there are no deer left in Michigan. People have been saying this for the past fifteen years, and it is, of course, without foundation.

"Michigan has one of the largest deer herds in the nation, and it has grown year after year up to the present level. It will probably never get any larger, because the habitat has perhaps reached its peak. Actually, the herd will get smaller, unless some major fire burns off the stands of timber, or something happens to step up the sale of standing timber.

"Michigan is not the only state that uses the 'any-deer' system of cropping the herd to controllable numbers. In fact, there is hardly a state, with a sizable herd, that does not use this system in some degree. Michigan's system has been copied by most of these states. It cannot be too far wrong.

Proved Successful
"It is apparent that the opponents of special seasons are

Who's Talking?

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Telephone callers to the White House are discovering these days that they must identify themselves by name before they will be put through to any staff official's office. For a brief time, operators were even demanding to know the calling number.

Presumably, the justification for this new procedure is that it promotes better record-keeping on the huge White House telephone inflow.

But the skeptics, particularly newsmen probing for information, suspect that the new system gives President Johnson an easy check on who is talking to whom.

Imagining the President turning over some unfavorable story made juicy by quotes from "inside the White House," one newspaperman said he could see Johnson summoning perhaps a dozen staff men who happened to be on the offending reporter's telephone call list and demanding:

"All right, now, who gave the guy those unfriendly quotes?"

A well-known Republican sauntered into a Washington hotel the other day, attired in slacks, a tan sport coat, and a jaunty Tyrolean hat.

A friend who spotted him said:

"You're looking pretty sporty today."

The politician replied:

"I'm on Medicare now. I can afford to dress well."

A recent guest at a White House dinner was a bit embarrassed when he discovered that he was the only person at his table using a spoon on his desert cake. He quickly regained conformity by grabbing his fork.

To put him at ease, a fellow guest remarked that some distant relatives of Calvin Coolidge once found themselves in a similar predicament some 40 years ago.

At a loss as to which utensil to use with each course, they solved the problem by taking their cue from Coolidge. All went fine until dessert, when setting out to panic the Conservation Commission into calling off the special season next year. If the Commission falls for this, as they did in 1961, they will do so against the wishes of the specialists of the Department.

"If any system has ever proven itself over the years, it is the antlerless seasons, designed to crop a surplus of deer. This system has put Michigan in the forefront as a big game state and it will keep it there as long as the Legislature permits it.

"There is only one clear course to follow. It is this:

"1 - Fit the herd to the range through special seasons.

"2 - Salvage for sport, all deer formerly taken illegally.

"3 - Increase winter browse by harvesting surplus animals.

"This knowledgeable group of conservation men should be allowed to manage this valuable resource in a conscientious and objective manner, without fear of favor. They should not depend on a 'popular vote' to set their course of action."

Lawyer All Men Evil This Gal Says

CAT LAW
Bitten by her neighbor's Angora cat, a woman filed suit for damages. She based her claim on two points: 1. that the neighbor owned the cat, and 2. that the cat had been trespassing in her back yard.

But the court held that neither ground was enough to support the woman's claim. The court said ownership alone does not mean liability for a cat's mischief, since it so seldom commits any. As for the trespassing, the court said cats are given freedom to roam — and to cross boundary lines — by common consent of mankind.

AS A RULE, a cat's victim can collect damages only by showing some previous vicious conduct by the cat. Such conduct puts the owner on notice that his pet is dangerous.

For example: A shopper, accompanied by her dog, entered a market. The proprietor's cat, which had recently had kittens, promptly tore into the dog. When the woman tried to protect her dog, she herself was mauled by the cat.

In this case the woman did collect. The court pointed out that a cat with kittens is likely to attack a dog, that customers often brought dogs to the market, and that another customer had been attacked earlier in the same manner. Under these circumstances, the court decided the cat was indeed dangerous and should have been restrained.

However, a minor show of temper will not put the owner on notice that he has a feline menace on his hands. Thus another woman, bitten by a cat, was denied damages because the only prior misconduct she could prove was that the cat had once shown its teeth and snagged a girl's stocking.

IN SHORT, in view of the generally good record of the species, the law is tolerant of a cat's natural tendencies. And, in that same spirit, the law looks with favor on efforts to be kind to cats.

One woman left money in her will to establish a "cattery" for homeless cats. Although the bequest was challenged as useless to the community, a court upheld it as a valid charitable trust. In the words of one judge:

"A rift for the benefit of animals tends to encourage kindness toward them, promote feelings of humanity and morality generally, repress brutality, and thus elevate the human race."

Dear Ann Landers: I am beginning to think my mother was right. She once told me that there is not a decent, clean-thinking man in this world. I'm convinced she knew what she was talking about.

I am 48, and have been married twice. Both my husbands were skirt chasers — morning, noon and night. The office manager made a play for me the second day I started to work here. The window washers and the janitor made goo goo eyes at me the same day.

Yesterday the meter-reader made an indecent proposal. This morning the bus driver gave me a come-on wink of the eye. I am so sick of sex maniaes I don't know what to do.

What advice do you have? Is there an escape? Please don't tell me to see a doctor for a check-up. The last time I went to see a doctor he propositioned me right in his office. —DESPERATE

Dear Desperate: I think you ought to see a psychiatrist. But make sure you select a female. And I'm not kidding.

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to say a word to the grandmother who signed herself "Beck and Call." She was annoyed because her married daughters used her as a sifter, a cook and a seamstress. They also had a habit of dropping off their children at her house when they went away for weekends.

I am in the same boat, so I know how she feels. But the solution you suggested won't work for me. Here is my story: Several months ago my daughter asked if I would take her children for four days while she and her husband went out of town. When I hesitated, she said, "Well, if you have to think about it, skip it." She hung up and would not speak to me for three months. I missed the children so much it almost killed me.

Now when she asks if I will take her youngsters I say yes without hesitation. The price for refusing is more than I want to pay. Maybe you will say I am a darned fool, but I love my grandchildren. —J. A. GRANNY

Dear Granny: Don't look now but your daughter is blackmailing you, and she is using her children as bait. I hope, for your sake, Mother, that there are no more at home like her. One is enough.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 16 and going steady with one of the coolest cats in the senior class. We haven't done anything wrong yet and that is why I am writing. I believe in preventing trouble before it starts. Please give me some advice.

After four dates I let Ronnie kiss me. Now that is all he wants to do. I can't get him interested in going to a movie, bowling, playing records or looking at TV. I even tried your formula of asking him questions about himself to get a good conversation going, but no dice, Ann. Ronnie would rather make out than do anything.

Last night he said if I cared for him as much as he cares for me I wouldn't fight him on this. I don't want him to ditch me, but I don't want to give in either. Please give me some advice and fast. —HANGING ON BY MY FINGERNAILS

Dear Hanging On: I'm typing as fast as I can and I hope I am not too late.

Give this creep a final no and tell him to stop pestering you or go find another girl. If he ditches you, you haven't lost much.

Negro Is Mayor In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UPI)—This city of 88,000 persons moved into the national spotlight as the largest in the country with a Negro mayor.

The historic event showed the world a citizen who is qualified and accepts his responsibilities can assume any office, Mayor Robert E. Henry said with great emotion as he took the oath of office.

Henry was chosen unanimously by the five city commissioners Monday night because he had polled more votes than any other candidate when three commissioners were elected last November.

The 44-year-old mayor denounced extremists in race relations as he outlined his views on race and city problems. White civic leaders crowded around, stretching their hands out to congratulate him and pledge their support.

After taking the oath Henry said he felt "Springfield has made a tremendous historic movement" in two ways.

The first, he said, was in seating its first female commissioner and the second "of great importance throughout the United States, is that I became the first Negro mayor of a city of this size."

Chileans Lament Order Abolishing Cherished Siesta

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—Chileans Tuesday lamented an official order abolishing a cherished Latin American custom—the siesta—"in the interests of progress and development."

The decree, published Monday, substitutes a 30-minute lunch hour for the traditional two-to-three-hour food and nap break in Chile.

The government order also establishes staggered work schedules to ease the rush-hour strain on Santiago's overtaxed transit system. The city's 100,000 public employees will begin their eight-hour day at 8:30 or 9 a.m. Private offices are to open between 8:15 and 8:45 a.m.

HOPING TO COAX a pike into spearing range, a fisherman dangles a decoy through his hole in the ice. The spearing season opens Jan. 1 in Michigan's inland waters. Northern pike, muskellunge, and lake trout head the list of targets that may be taken through the ice during this season which continues on inland waters until the end of February.

Red Cross Ends Year In Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Despite a record fund-raising effort, the American Red Cross wound up with a $3,051,487 deficit for the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

In its annual report, made public during the weekend, the Red Cross reported total revenue of $105,029,833 and expenditures of $108,081,320. It cited increased commitments in Viet Nam and for disaster relief in the United States as reasons for the deficit.

The total amount raised during the fiscal year—$90,463,761—was the highest ever obtained in peacetime, and it was one of the busiest and most active years in the post-World War II period for the Red Cross.

Edison Sault To Reduce Its Rates
LANSING (AP)—The state has directed Edison Sault Electric Co. to reduce its rates by $70,987 a year.

The Michigan Public Service Commission said residential rates will be reduced by $28,664, rural rates by $25,190, commercial lighting by $21,683 and street lighting by $2,478.

Rates on sales to public authorities will increase by $1,170 and commercial power rates by $3,858, effective Feb. 1.

Peter Spivak, commission chairman, said the company which had six rate divisions and 46 rate schedules for "historic reasons," now has a schedule of electric rates which will apply to its entire service area and result in uniform rates, rules and regulations.

Thirty Dominican Military Leaders Sent Into Exile

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—Thirty military leaders being forced into exile "for the good of the country" left the Dominican Republic in the early hours Tuesday unofficial reports said.

The reports said the men left by aircraft for Haiti, a naval station on the outskirts of Santo Domingo.

This strife-torn city was tensely quiet, with reinforced patrols of U.S. paratroopers and Dominican policemen on guard in the streets. Informed sources said publication of the names of the men who are being forced into exile might touch off a new storm of violence later today.

There were unconfirmed reports that the list included both regular officers and army men who deserted to the rebels in the April revolt.

Foresters Honor Tree Seed Expert

Paul O. Rudolf, well-known forester in the Lake States and the nation, was recently elected to the high position of "fellow" in the Society of American Foresters. He was selected in recognition of his 36 years as a leader in forestry research, his pioneer work in the field of tree seed certification, and his leadership within the Society itself. This comes on the heels of another unusual honor—a U. S. Department of Agriculture Superior Service Award which was presented to him last May in Washington, D. C., by Secretary Freeman.

Rudolf is principal silviculturist with the Lake States Forest Experiment Station, Forest Service, U. S. D. A., in St. Paul. Born in LaCrosse, Wis., he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees in forestry at the University of Minnesota and Cornell University.

Ferency May Quit Party Job

LANSING—Zolton A. Ferency, Democratic state chairman since 1963, has hinted that he is considering stepping down from his party leadership.

Ferency had announced the formation of a new law firm, in partnership with two other Lansing attorneys, Mrs. Gay Hardy and State Rep. James H. Starr, Lansing Democrat.

Expanding on that announcement, he said: "My foremost personal obligation is to my family, and I must begin to reestablish myself in my normal occupation."

"The Michigan Democratic Party has experienced a considerable turnover in party offices in the past year, and nothing would be gained by tendering my resignation at this time."

Run For Governor?
"A reevaluation of my continuing role as party chairman will be made at some future date as the tempo of 1966 campaign activity increases, and greater attention is focused on the major political candidates."

Ferency has been mentioned as a possible opponent of Gov. Romney in the 1966 gubernatorial race.

Ferency, who clashed with Democratic leaders in the Legislature several times last year over the issue of fiscal reform, indicated, however, that he would continue in his position as state party chairman into 1966, barring some new developments.

"For the time being, I shall devote a restricted number of business hours to the practice of law, but for all practical purposes, I shall continue as a full-time party chairman."

Suggests Ticket
Ferency insisted that there are "no political implications" involved in his return to the private practice of law, but he added:

"At some future time it may be in the best interests of the Democratic Party to return to our earlier long-standing policy of placing the chairmanship on an unpaid, part-time basis."

"In my considered judgment," Ferency said in a statement, "the strongest possible Democratic ticket in next year's campaign would have former Gov. G. Mennen Williams as a candidate for governor and U.S. Senator Patrick V. McNamara as a candidate for reelection."

Skating Rinks Won't Be Open

City skating rinks will not be open this week due to poor weather conditions, it was announced today by Paul Vardigan, acting city recreation director.

Flooding will continue through the weekend and every effort will be made to open the rinks sometime next week, he stated.

Ski tows are being erected at the Danforth hill but additional snow and colder weather are needed before the hills will be safe for public skiing.

Staff Undermanned:

Sheriff's Patrols Vanish In 1965

A 40-hour work week, an undermanned force of officers and the responsibilities of the new Delta County jail have combined to reduce the activity of the Delta County Sheriff's Department, according to the annual report released today by Sheriff C. A. (Cully) Johnson.

The Department went on a strict 40-hour work week about a year ago after years of longer hours. Including the Sheriff, only seven officers man the staff.

"We don't have the men or time to make regular patrols any more," said Johnson.

"Our cars don't even have enough mileage this year to trade them in. We used to get new cars every year. This year we won't have to buy any."

Arrests Drop

Sheriff's officers issued only 25 traffic summonses in 1965—an average of about two per county, he points out.

In 1965, the department destroyed 500 dogs and 243 cats. A total of 47 dogs were placed in new homes. Thirty-six dog bites were investigated, none resulting in rabies.

Besides maintaining the office, inspecting boat liveries, escorting funerals, making liquor inspections and serving court summonses, the Sheriff's Department also transported 33 patients to Newberry State Hospital, six to Veteran's Hospital at Tomah, Wis., and Iron Mountain, and took seven prisoners to Marquette.

License Work Cut

Some of the paper work load was relieved, however, when the Secretary of State's office took over issuance of motor vehicle operating licenses.

The department eliminated the service when Michigan initiated its new color-photo license because of inadequate payments to compensate for staff-time.

Dog Control

Winter doesn't mean dog owners are free to let their animals run loose. Sheriff Cully Johnson warned today.

Dogs must be confined or kept under reasonable control of the owner at all times—365 days a year, he said. Violators will be prosecuted.

month and a decline of 35 from 1964. Arrests for all other causes dropped from 110 to 58.

Johnson said the office is normally staffed with from one to three men daily, but only one at night.

"When we get a call on an accident at night, the man on duty has to roll me out of bed to take over the desk so he can go out," Johnson continued. "If it's something requiring more than one man I have to call in someone else."

Throughout 1965, the Sheriff's officers received 1,292 complaints which were recorded, including dog calls. A year ago—with 758 dog complaints included—there were 1,688.

Dogs Problem

Dogs are a constant problem. Johnson explained that Dog Warden Hector Larson spends almost all of his time tracking down complaints, but that it's impossible to even begin to catch up with the work. One truck can't cover the entire

More Companies Increase Structural Steel Prices

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The U. S. Steel Corp. today announced a "selective" increase of about $2.75 a ton in the prices of structural steel shapes.

The increase was about one-half of that announced last week by Bethlehem Steel Corp. The Johnson administration had attacked the Bethlehem increase as unnecessary and inflationary.

U. S. Steel's increase appeared to be designed as a compromise.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem dominate the market in steel structural, which are used chiefly in road building and bridge construction.

Two smaller producers of structural parts increased prices earlier this week. Inland Steel Co. matched the Bethlehem increase. Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp. raised prices $3 a ton but announced Tuesday they were temporarily postponing the price hike.

U. S. Steel Corp. said it was taking into consideration the federal government's opposition to the Bethlehem hike of $5 a ton.

Hiawatha's Cut For Year Tops 1964's Harvest

The Hiawatha National Forest review by Supervisor Sherwood C. Trotter of Escanaba reveals that the forest had a 1965 harvest of 36.7 million board feet and a sale of 46.4 million feet.

These figures are larger than those for 1964, but smaller than those for 1963, when the great federal forest in the eastern Upper Peninsula had its record production.

The 1964 cut was 36.5 million feet and the sale 39.7 million feet and the 1963 figures were 40.5 and 46.8 million feet. The ratio of sawtimber—3.8

million feet in 1964—and cords of pulpwood and other woods—66,203—remains about the same but the forest's young softwood stands that are in pole size are coming to merchantable size for small sawlogs fast and in 10 more years the volume cut will go up sharply. Some is already being sold to buyers like Superior Studs at Newberry.

The forest's young hardwood stands are being thinned, with the thinnings going to the Cliffs-Dow plant at Marquette and this thinning will accelerate the rate of growth of the remaining stands.

The value of forest timber sold in 1965 was $276,866. Planting was done on 2,445 acres with a total of 1,813,000 trees set out and 1,825 acres of forest stand were thinned and pruned.

The forest returned to the counties: Alger, $6,278; Chippewa, $11,702; Delta, $13,123; Mackinac, $8,081; Marquette, $322 and Schoolcraft, $6,803 for a total of $46,312.

In wildlife work three new projects were initiated and two with the State Conservation Department, involving a total of 2,700 acres.

The forest had six watershed development projects in the year including dune control, stream bank stabilization and channel clearing.

A total of 19 fires—all man-made except one caused by lightning—burned 139 acres in the year of which 38 were federal forest lands.

Reagon Has His Hat In Ring

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Republican Ronald Reagan, an old-timer in the movies but a newcomer to politics, today steered a course he hoped would put him in the governor's chair of the nation's most populous state.

Reagan, 54, formally announced his candidacy Tuesday night for the Republican nomination as California governor in the state's June 7 primary.

The announcement, at a special premiere of a 30-minute television broadcast shown over 16 California stations, brought mixed reaction from both fellow Republicans and from Democrats.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, 60, Democrat expected to bid for a third term, shrugged off Reagan's candidacy in a television interview, predicting any Democrat could win the November general election.

But Robert L. Coate of San Francisco, Democratic state chairman, said Reagan would be an "extremely tough candidate."

Senior Citizens:

Tax Exemption Not Automatic

The tax exemptions being offered senior citizens of Michigan do not automatically apply—they have to be applied for.

This was emphasized today by Charles Schmidt, city assessor, and Don Guindon, city clerk, of Escanaba, who said they hope senior citizens will come forward for the processing of their applications at a faster rate.

To better serve the needs of the senior citizens of Escanaba the city has established tax exemption application centers at: The State Office Building lobby, at Club 314, and at the North Side Fire Station.

The hours are from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 4 p. m. each day through Friday. The assistance centers will continue through two more weeks.

Senior citizens who are making application for the tax exemption were reminded to bring with them the deed to their property and a birth certificate or other proof of birth. They can visit the application center nearest them.

The centers opened in Escanaba on Monday and there were 93 senior citizen applications processed. The number of applicants increased to more than 100 on Tuesday.

It was emphasized by officials that senior citizens need have no hesitancy in applying for the tax exemption. There is no state lien taken on the property.

It is estimated that about 1,200 persons over 65 years of age are owners of property in Escanaba eligible for exemption.

Central Evening Circle Holds Dinner Meeting

The Evening Circle of Central Methodist Church met Monday in the church parlors for dinner at 6:30 p. m. Members of the Anna group served as hostesses.

Mrs. Burton Butler led the devotion with a reading, "The New Day in Your Life." Rev. Robert Selberg spoke on the topic, "What is the Church?" from the book of Acts by Harvey H. Potthoff. The church, the author says, is fellowship and institution. It is composed of seekers and sharers. In all of this, the church is the instrument of God's continuing work in the world to proclaim, exemplify and communicate the new life which God makes available to his human creatures everywhere.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Roy Ness announced that Circle members would host the Board of Education at a noon luncheon on Tuesday, Jan. 11. It was decided that a bake sale would be held at the next regular meeting.

Ivan Strombergs To Mark Golden Wedding

IRON MOUNTAIN — Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Stromberg of 1220 Carpenter Ave., Iron Mountain, will observe their 50th wedding anniversary on Thursday. Stromberg, born in Escanaba, is a son of John Stromberg, pioneer Escanaba business leader who owned and operated the Cash Mercantile Co. for many years on Ludington St.

Years ago, John Stromberg, together with Herman Gessner of the Fair Store, organized the first Escanaba Business Men's Association, predecessor of the present Chamber of Commerce. He sponsored also a Merchants' Credit Bureau for independent merchants, and was father of the Escanaba Delivery Co., a cooperative delivery organization which served Escanaba merchants during the 1930's.

He was a member of the Delta County Board of Supervisors, was first to recommend purchase from the I. Stephenson Co. of the tract of land now known as Pioneer Trail Park. Ivan Stromberg's marriage to Anna D. Johnson of Escanaba took place on Jan. 6, 1916 in Minneapolis where the wedding ceremony was performed by the late Rev. Carl H. Sundstrom, Swedish Methodist minister and a former pastor in Escanaba. Rev. Sundstrom was Anna Johnson's uncle, and she lived with his family during his pastorate in Escanaba. Anna is a member of the Escanaba High School Class of 1909.

After Stromberg's marriage, he resumed his association with his father's business for eight years. In 1924, when the Ford Motor Co. was operating its plant on a large scale in Iron Mountain, Stromberg moved to that city where he established a retail grocery and meat store.

The business prospering, he expanded and put into service truck and trailer equipment between Iron Mountain, Chicago, and Lower Michigan fruit points supplying fresh fruits and vegetables to produce dealers in the Iron Mountain area.

After 38 years in business, Stromberg retired in 1962. He and his wife, Anna, will leave for California Feb. 15 on their annual trip to visit with their daughter, Helene Ziegler and her husband, Roland, who is sales representative for the Simoniz Division of the Motor Salt Co.

Helene, born in Escanaba, is a graduate of Iron Mountain High School and Lawrence University. She has a daughter, Barbara, now a sophomore in Redlands University, Redlands, Calif., and a son, Richard, a junior in Edgewood High School, West Covina.

Among other relatives are two sisters, Mrs. William Pope of Chicago, and Mrs. Foss Elwyn of East Lansing, Mich. Foss Elwyn was formerly superintendent of schools in Sault Ste. Marie. His brother, Austin, of Evanston, Ill., former editor and publisher of the automotive publication, Power Wagon of Chicago, captained the Northwestern University football team of 1915. He is the owner of a summer place in Iron County, and is now in Iron Mountain to attend the wedding anniversary.

Mary K. Groop Bride Of Louis R. Kotula

St. Michaels Church in Marquette adorned with poinsettias and other decorations in keeping with the Christmas theme was the setting Dec. 27, for the wedding of Mary Katherine Groop, 119 E. Magnetic Ave., Marquette and Louis Raymond Kotula, 6280 Grandy, Detroit.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Arnold Cassanova officiated at the nuptial high mass for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Groop of Marquette, former residents of Escanaba and the son of Mrs. Joseph Kotula of Detroit and the late Mr. Kotula.

The bride, escorted to the altar on the arm of her father, chose a floor length gown of cameo ivory satin blended with delicate peau d'ange lace. A spray of rose patterned lace frosted the bodice designed with crescent decollete, tapered lace-tipped sleeves and traditional buttons down the back.

Medallions of the peau d'ange highlighted the lustrous skirt of controlled fullness which flared at the back into a court train, bordered with lace. A looped bow topped her cloche hat of pearl banded satin which held her tiered bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of creamy yellow and white carnations with sprigs of holly.

Moss Green Velvet

Her attendants, Jewell Ann Dearborn, maid of honor and Christine Bonczyk bridesmaid of Detroit were attired in gowns of moss green velvet and pale ecru frosted crepe. The high waisted bodices of velvet were fashioned with oval necklines and elbow length sleeves. The instep length panels featured flat waistline bowknots at the back which flowed into hemlength panels. Bow trimmed braided coronets of moss velvet held their petal veils. Their bouquets were cascades of creamy pompoms, red carnations and sprays of pine.

Serving as best man for the wedding was Frederick K. Will of Detroit and Wayne L. Smith, Detroit, was groomsman. Seating the guests was Michael Flajole, Royal Oak.

A reception for the couple was held at the Northwoods in Marquette and the bridegroom's mother hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Chalet. They will make their home at 11742 Pinehurst in Detroit.

The bride graduated from Escanaba High School in 1956 and she is a graduate of Northern Michigan University where she received her B. A. and M.A. degrees. She is affiliated with Delta Sigma Nu, a social sorority. She is presently teaching in Garden City.

Mr. Kotula graduated in 1960 from Wayne State university and is an Intermediate Government Analyst for the city of Detroit.

The cooperative program for Cooks, Doyle, Garden, Manistique township, Germfask, St. Francis and Manistique schools is expected to be approved soon, Supt. E. E. Wuehle reports.

It is designed to give concentrated instruction in small groups to youngsters in grades 1-6 who are significantly below grade level in reading skill. A budget of $45,763 was submitted under the Elementary-Secondary Education Act. The program will benefit approximately 280.

A summer-month project to provide improvement in basic skills in grades 1-12 is being planned. Neighboring areas have been invited to participate.

Harringtons Have Iranian Guest

Miss Dahavar is a student at Adrian college and was a guest of the Breitenbecks for the Christmas holidays. She came to Manistique expecting to see much snow and was surprised there was none at the time.

In her country, this is the year 1444. The country has snow and cold and a winter period of about a month when temperatures are minus 20 to 30 degrees.

She plans to attend Michigan Tech next year and become a mechanical engineer.

Marquette's Iron Ranger hockey team suffered a 5-4 setback to the Green Bay Bobcats in United States League action. The defeat was Marquette's second of the season against five victories. One of the refs for the game at the Brown County Arena was Mark Olson, former Escanaba hockey star now living in Peoria. The Rangers return to action with a Saturday night-Sunday afternoon home stand against St. Paul this weekend. A scheduled home game against Green Bay Thursday night has been shifted to March.

Some of the all-time basketball greats from Northern Michigan University will return to the campus Saturday, Jan. 8, to form a 15-man alumni team which will play Coach Stan Albeck's current Wildcats in a 1:30 contest at the fieldhouse. Among the alumni players will be former Escanaba athletes Fred Boddy and Mike Mileski. Others include such stars as Bob Armistead, Wayne Monson, Gary Silc, Bob Perotte, Dave Cade, Marty Gharrity, Tim Bullock and Duane Soine.

Butch Wedin of Iron Mountain, a member of the 10 man United States team for international ski jumping competition, finished second to Dave Lundmark of Duluth in the Central U. S. Ski Association meet at Washburn, Wis. Another Upper Peninsula jumper, John Corello of Ishpeming, placed second in the junior competition.

Biggest news in the skiing world recently was the announcement from Ironwood that construction plans are underway for a ski flying hill to be erected at Copper Peak. The only one of its kind in the western hemisphere, the hill will make possible jumps of over 400 feet.

Ken Seibert, 6 foot 7 inch sophomore center from Escanaba, has again lost his battle of the books at Michigan Tech and will not be eligible for the remainder of the basketball season. The Huskies return to action after the holidays with a pair of Northern Intercollegiate Conference games this weekend, hosting Mankato Friday night and Winona Saturday afternoon.

You'd hardly believe it by looking out your window now, but two local rals took advantage of the fabulous weather last weekend to shoot a round of golf at Highland. Lenore Palmgren and her daughter, Linda, toured the course Saturday afternoon in what they described as better weather than we had last summer. The tennis enthusiasts also made the most of it, with John Veder and Stan St. Louis playing at the Ludington Park courts.

Esky Cagers Explode In 97 To 60 Victory

RICK KUTCHENBERG, top, drives in for a two-pointer for the Escanaba Eskymos after stealing the ball from Iron Mountain in the Great Northern Conference cage game here Tuesday night. Kutchenberg scored 17 points as the Eskymos trimmed the Mountaineers, 97-60, in their first start following the holiday layoff. In the lower action shot, junior forward Paul Miller flicks a short jumper through the nets for one of his eight field goals in the game. Kutchenberg scored all of his 17 points in the first half and Miller tallied 16 of his 18 in the second half. (Daily Press Photos)

A sputtering offense, which had cost Escanaba three straight cage setbacks before the Christmas vacation, caught fire here Tuesday night as Coach Harold Johnson's quint crushed Iron Mountain, 97-60, in a Great Northern Conference contest.

Triggered by speedy Rick Kutchenberg in the first half, the Eskymos took early command of the game and Iron Mountain was never in contention. Johnson's final instructions to his players before the game were to put the pressure on Iron Mountain's defense and keep driving for the bucket. His cagers carried out the orders to perfection as four starters reached high double scoring figures and five other players tallied four or more points.

With reserves playing through most of the fourth quarter, the Eskymos struggled in vain to reach the century mark. The final total was seven short of the gym and school record of 104 points scored against Newberry last season.

The Mountaineers stayed with Escanaba for four minutes in the first quarter, trailing 10-9 at that point. But Jim Boyle, Dave Nyquist and Kutchenberg pumped in 10 straight points to get the Eskymos on their way. At the end of the quarter it was 26-11.

Heading a fast break attack that produced wholesale layups and short jumpers, Kutchenberg scored 17 points to lead Escanaba to a 54-31 cushion at the halftime intermission. The 5 foot 9 inch senior guard cooled off in the second half in which he failed to score, but junior forward Paul Miller came alive to tally seven field goals in the third and fourth quarters. He finished with 16 points.

Boyle contributed 14 points and Nyquist 17 while guards Bob Haack and Steve Oman combined for an additional 17. Coach Irwin DeMerse of Iron Mountain started three sophomores and two juniors. John Webb and Brian Oulmette paced the Mountaineer scorers with 15 points apiece.

The victory squared Escanaba's record at 3-3 while Iron Mountain is now 1-5. The Eskymos return to action Friday night in a game at Sault Ste. Marie.

The Eskymos bombarded the nets with 43 field goals, connecting on 47 per cent of their shots. They converted 11 of 19 from the free throw line. The visitors hit on 22 of 61 field goals for 36 per cent and added 16 of 34 charity tosses.

An impressive rebounding performance paved the way for Escanaba's domination of the action. The Eskymos hauled down 55, with Bernie Larson coming off the bench to grab 13. Nyquist had 11 and Oman eight. Iron Mountain was limited to 32 retrieves.

Carney Defeats Broncos, 73-44

CARNEY — The Carney Wolves ripped Bark River-Harris, 73-44, in a nonconference cage clash here Tuesday night. Coach Bob Kuntze's cagers fashioned their sixth triumph against three defeats by storming to a 22-16 lead in the first quarter and padding the margin in each period.

The Wolves dominated both boards, hauling down 63 rebounds to 37 for the Broncos. Brian Forgette grabbed 14. Jerome Bichel and Lester Laurin 12 each. Big Jim Hooker gave them their only major competition with 14 for the Broncos.

Bichel fired in 22 points to lead four Carney cagers in double figures while Hooker tossed in 16 for Bark River. Ten players contributed to the Carney scoring total as the Wolves shot at a hot 40 per cent from the field, hitting 28 of 69 attempts.

Bark River won the jayvee preliminary, 50-48, in double overtime.

Unique Flying Ski Hill Set

IRONWOOD (UPI) — Construction of what is believed to be the Western Hemisphere's first "ski flying hill" is expected to start late this month.

William Johnson, coordinator of a fund drive which raised $46,000 to help put the project across, said jumps of up to 500 feet will be possible at Copper Peak. He said the only such other "flying" hills in existence are at Obersdorf, Germany, Kuhn Austria and Planica, Yugoslavia.

Johnson, president of radio station WJMS, said scaffolding for the jump will tower 270 feet above the hill. Copper Mountain is located 12 miles north of Ironwood.

Plans call for two ski runs on the scaffolding, one the 120 meter flying slide, and the second a 90 meter jump. Johnson said the Gogebic Ski Club has received a $150,000 loan and a $250,000 grant from the federal government for the project.

He said the fund drive was held to meet the differences in costs which have arisen in the years since the project was originally planned. He said contracts were expected to be awarded at the end of this month, with construction to start immediately thereafter.

Loyal Lions Win In Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — The Downtown Lions Club never had any doubts about who would win the Cotton Bowl football game.

The club ordered thousands of Louisiana State University "victory" car tags a full week ahead of the game even though undefeated Arkansas was expected to run away with the contest. LSU won 14-7.

The license plates, which say "LSU Tigers," Cotton Bowl Champs, '66," will be sold for $1 apiece with the money going to the club's program for blind children.

Bench Warmer Paces Victory

By United Press International Billy Cunningham, a talented rookie who narrowly lost a berth on the National Basketball Association All-Star team to teammate Chet Walker, can console himself with the knowledge that he has become a genuine star for the Philadelphia 76ers.

Cunningham, the 6-foot-6 North Carolina jumping jack, was under serious consideration for the last forward berth on the NBA's Eastern Division squad which meets the West Jan. 11 at Cincinnati despite the fact that he isn't even a starter.

The hotshot "sixth" man in the Philly attack, Cunningham proved his worth Tuesday night when he came off the bench in the fourth quarter to score eight points in the final eight minutes, including the tie-breaking basket, and lead the 76ers to a 129-127 victory over New York.

Rick Harry, the only rookie on the All-Star game roster, scored 29 points in plying the San Francisco Warriors to a 122-111 triumph over the Baltimore Bullets in the first game of the Madison Square Garden doubleheader.

Spartans Name Swim Captain

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State swimmers have chosen senior Denny Hill, 21, Lansing, as team captain for the new season. It was announced Tuesday.

Hill, a 6-foot-2, 190-pound specialist in distance freestyle events, has won two swimming letters. He was named the most improved member of the Spartan squad last year.

Want Alabama Quarterback, But:

Falcons Won't Get Into Bidding War For Services Of Steve Sloan

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Falcons want Alabama quarterback Steve Sloan but team owner Rankin Smith doesn't plan to become involved in a wild price war to get the Orange Bowl star.

"Sloan's value went up considerably after he put on that great passing show in Miami," said Smith.

"But we made him what we think is a fair offer and if some of those AFL teams want to run up the price, that's up to them. We're not getting into any bidding war."

Sloan was picked in the 11th round of the National Football League draft by the Falcons who will be fielding a team for the first time next fall. He was overlooked in the AFL draft and as a free agent can sign with any AFL team he desires.

Jets Interested

Steve told us after the Orange Bowl game that he wanted to hear what some of the AFL teams had to offer before making up his mind," said Smith. "He said the (New York) Jets had contacted him."

The Jets reportedly paid $400,000 last year to get Alabama quarterback Joe Namath, the AFL rookie of the year, and therein lies a tale.

Sloan was Namath's understudy for two years and was so completely in Namath's shadow that although he is a great college quarterback in his own right, he was virtually unnoticed nationally.

But it was Sloan, who as a sophomore did most of his playing as a safetyman, who led Alabama to a Sugar Bowl

Reserves Spark Yellow Jackets

By United Press International Sometimes experience can give way to youth with startling results, as in the case of the Georgia Tech basketball team.

The Yellow Jackets' veterans were playing a so-so game and losing Tuesday night against Pittsburgh, and Tech coach Whack Hyder pulled them in favor of five sophomores in the second half. The youngsters, smaller than the Pitt starters, worried the Panthers into numerous miscues and turned on the steam for an 80-77 victory.

Pres Judy, a Georgia Tech junior, was the high scorer with 28 points, but only seven of his points came in the second half. Sophs Phil Wagner (18), Pete Thorne (16) and Bob Brizandine (10) sparked the Yellow Jacket rally that resulted in victory.

Georgia Tech, a mere three points ahead with six minutes left, scored 11 consecutive points to run away from the Panthers.

Third-ranked Vanderbilt needed a second-half rally to shellack Tulane 91-69. Clyde Lee led the belated uprising with 22 points.

Stuart Lantz grabbed a rebound on a free throw by Iowa State, dribbled upcourt and sank a jump shot with 30 seconds left to insure a 76-74 victory for Nebraska. The jumper made the score 75-74 and Lantz tied it with a free throw with nine seconds left.

The University of North Dakota, paced by Phil Jackson's 30 points, won its 19th consecutive home game, an 85-74 conquest of DePaul.

Dave Schellhase popped in 42 points to lead Purdue past Notre Dame 109-92. The Fighting Irish stayed close through the first half and led 32-31 with a little more than six minutes left. But Purdue, which wound up shooting 54 per cent, pulled away to a 53-39 halftime bulge.

Records Unnoticed

Yet, although he had completed 97 of 160 passes for 1,453 yards and 10 touchdowns and scored another six touchdowns himself while leading Alabama to an 8-1 record and the Southeast Conference title, Sloan was ignored by the AFL and was far down the list in the NFL.

Of course, all of that was before New Year's night.

That was the night Sloan, a 21-year-old native of Cleveland, Tenn., finally came out of Namath's shadow into his own spotlight. That was the night he gained 258 yards passing in the first half alone and went on to break a bundle of Orange Bowl records while leading the Crimson Tide past previously unbeaten Nebraska.

"Sure we want Sloan," said Smith who reportedly paid $225,000 for Texas linebacker Tommy Nobis and at least $100,000 for Texas A&I quarterback Randy Johnson, hero of the Blue-Gray game.

"But we have decided to set a limit on how high we will go to get him. If that's not enough, so be it."

Peninsula Grain Supply Short

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Raymond F. Cleveland, D-Mich., Tuesday urged Gov. George Romney to approve the certification of 16 upper Michigan counties for the emergency seed grain program.

Agriculture disaster committees in the 16 counties have sought the emergency assistance to carry livestock through the winter. Cleveland said he has asked Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman to designate these counties as disaster areas eligible for the emergency program after the necessary state action has been taken.

The counties are Alger, Baraga, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Delta, Dickinson, Emmet, Gogebic, Houghton, Iron, Mackinac, Marquette, Menominee, Ontonagon, and Schoolcraft.

Cleveland said autumn weather in the area made it impossible for many farmers to harvest enough of their seed grain crops to carry their livestock through the winter. If Freeman approves the emergency program, eligible farmers may buy surplus feed grain at low-market prices, Cleveland said.

Union Loses In Bargaining Vote At Menominee

MENOMINEE—Employees of the Vernco Corp. have voted against union representation by a margin of more than two to one.

William H. Caley manager of the 13th St. plant, said the vote was 53 to 21 against representation by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) AFL-CIO. The election was staged by the National Labor Relations Board. A simple majority of workers voting was necessary to give the union bargaining rights.

"I am grateful for the trust the employees have placed in me," Caley said, "and I am confident that I can live up to it."

The plant was sold to Vernco a year ago by King-Seely-Thermos Inc. Known locally as the Signal Electric plant, the factory turned out electric motors. Vernco has main offices in Newport, Tenn.

Marine Looking For Kidney To Save His Life

FLINT (UPI)—James Fisher is looking for someone to save his life.

The 21-year-old ex-Marine has been told he has two months to live, unless he can find someone to donate a kidney for a delicate transplant operation. Fisher was married two months ago. In recent weeks, doctors at University Hospital in Ann Arbor told him his kidneys were only one-eighth of the normal size.

Doctors said the operation, if a donor is found, offers only a 50 per cent chance of recovery. In the meantime, Fisher is allowed brief visits home while his family and friends help him look for someone who can give him a chance to escape death.

Hospital

Richard Vanderlinden of 1320 Lake Shore Drive is a patient at St. Vincent's Hospital, Green Bay, where he will be operated on Thursday. He entered the hospital Sunday and is in Room 900.
